In villages around India many people have no facilities that provide adequate health care and education despite the Indian government allocating an enormous amount of funding in order to offset this lack of health care and educational facilities. In Indian villages many private individuals and organizations provide medical services and educational opportunities to the poor. This book details two major seva projects founded by Mr and Mrs P C Mangalick in Agra, India. Seva is selfless service that an individual or group provides to underprivileged people. These acts of selfless service are prompted by an awareness of the presence of God in all beings. This book describes how seva leads to a purified mind and therefore an understanding of the self, the part of one source, God within an individual's personality.

In recent decades economic dislocation, immigration, new architecture and other forces have transformed the physical, social and even religious landscape of large cities. There gleaming skyscrapers tower over struggling ghettos, abandoned businesses, mar upscale shopping areas and tall steeple churches sometimes languish where storefront mosques thrive. Exploring the religious significance of this new urban landscape, a group of theologians, members of the Workgroup on Constructive Christian Theology, traveled to select cities and found an exciting, vibrant and multivoiced religious spirit at work. In these essays five leading American theologians delve deeply into the contemporary spiritual geographies of five cities, capturing through a mix of personal and historical narrative, political analysis and theological rumination a sense of this new sacred space and the spirit aborning there.
