today muslims are the second largest religious group in much of europe and north america the essays in this collection look both at the impact of the growing muslim population on western societies and how muslims are adapting to life in the west part i looks at the muslim diaspora in europe comprising essays on britain france germany switzerland norway sweden denmark italy and the netherlands part ii turns to the western hemisphere and muslims in the u s canada and mexico throughout the authors contend with such questions as can muslims retain their faith and identity and at the same time accept and function within the secular and pluralistic traditions of europe and america what are the limits of western pluralism will muslims come to be fully accepted as fellow citizens with equal rights an excellent guide to the changing landscape of islam this volume is an indispensable introduction to the experiences of muslims in the west and the diverse responses of their adopted countries after 9 11 there was an increase in both the incidence of hate crimes and government policies that targeted arabs and muslims and the proliferation of sympathetic portrayals of arabs and muslims in the u s media arabs and muslims in the media examines this paradox and investigates the increase of sympathetic images of the enemy during the war on terror evelyn alsultany explains that a new standard in racial and cultural representations emerged out of the multicultural movement of the 1990s that involves balancing a negative representation with a positive one what she refers to as simplified complex representations this has meant that if the storyline of a tv drama or film represents an arab or muslim as a terrorist then the storyline also includes a positive representation of an arab muslim arab american or muslim american to offset the potential stereotype analyzing how tv dramas such as west wing the practice 24 threat matrix the agency navy ncis and sleeper cell news reporting and non profit advertising have represented arabs muslims arab americans and muslim americans during the war on terror this book demonstrates how more diverse representations do not in themselves solve the problem of racial stereotyping and how even seemingly positive images can produce meanings that can justify exclusion and inequality this book analyzes the development of islam and muslim communities in the west including influences from abroad relations with the state and society and internal community dynamics the project examines the emergence of islam in the west in relation to the place of muslim communities as part of the social fabric of western societies it provides an overview of the major issues and debates that have arisen over the last three to four decades surrounding the presence of new muslim communities residing in western liberal democracies as such the volume is an ideal text for courses focusing on islam and muslim communities in the west jamie gilham collates the work of leading and emerging scholars of islam in britain christian muslim relations and victorian studies to offer fresh perspectives on islam and muslims in victorian britain the contributors reveal 19th century attitudes and beliefs about islam and muslims to demonstrate the plurality of approaches and representations of islam in britain s past also bringing to life the stories and voices of early muslim settlers and converts to islam this book examines the lived experience of muslims in the victorian period sources include political and academic writings literature travelogues the press and other forms of popular culture intersectional themes include religion and religiosity race and ethnicity gender class citizenship empire and imperialism and prejudice discrimination and resilience this book deals with the genesis outbreak and far reaching effects of a legal controversy and the resulting outbreak of mass violence which determined the course of british colonial rule after post world war two in singapore and malaya based on extensive archival sources it examines the custody hearing of maria hertogh a case which exposed tensions between malay and singaporean muslims and british colonial society investigating the wide ranging effects and crises faced in the aftermath of the riots the analysis focuses in particular on the restoration of peace and rebuilding of society the author provides a nuanced and sophisticated understanding of british management of riots and mass violence in southeast asia by exploring the responses by non british communities in singapore malaya and the wider muslim world to the maria hertogh controversy he shows that british strategies and policies can be better understood through the themes of resistance and collaboration furthermore the book argues that british enactment of laws pertaining to the management of religions in the post war period had dispossessed religious minorities of their perceived religious rights as a result outbreaks of mass violence and continual grievances ensued in the final years of british colonial rule in southeast asia and these tensions still pertain in the present this book will be of interest to scholars and students of law and society history imperial history and asian studies and to anyone studying minorities and violence and recovery jews settled in medieval spain at least by the third century and under the christian visigoths sixth to eighth centuries suffered increasing hostility and persecution from which they were saved by the muslim invasion 711 this book details the relations between jews and the visigoths and then with the muslims both in muslim spain proper al andalus and in later christian spain to the fifteenth century it examines both the positive and negative aspects of those relations drawing on a variety of sources many of which are here utilized for the first time political socio economic scientific cultural literary and even sexual aspects of the history of the interaction between jews and visigoths and jews and muslims provide hopefully a new insight into a period of great importance in history in the european discourse of post 9 11 reality concepts such as multiculturalism integration and european islam are becoming more and more topical the empirically based contributions in this volume aim to reflect the variety of current muslim social practices and life worlds in germany the volume goes beyond the fragmented methods of minority case studies and the monolithic view of muslims as portrayed by mass media to present fresh theoretical approaches and in depth analyses of a rich mosaic of communities cultures and social practices issues of politics religion society economics media art literature law and gender are addressed the result is a vibrant state of the art publication of studies of real life communities and individuals contributors are kilian bälz kea eilers friedmann eissler konrad hirschler jeanette s jouili melanie kamp matthias kulinna judith pies claudia preckel robert pütz mathias rohe sabine schiffer verena schreiber christoph schumann wolfgang g schwanitz clara seitz faruk Şen viola shafik yafa shanneik martin sökefeld margrete søvik levent tezcan jörn thielmann nikola tietze and maria wurm monograph on social integration of the islamic minority group in india examines cultural factors which have contributed to social conflict and unharmonious intergroup relations presents survey data etc and recommends that moslems undertake voluntary cultural change and undergo acculturation to the surrounding hindu majority the updated edition about the important but little understood black muslim movement with more than 150 million people muslims are the largest indian minority but are facing a significant decline in socio economic as well as political terms not to say anything about the communal waves of violence that have affected them over the last 25 years in india s cities these developments find contrasted expressions while muslims are everywhere lagging behind local syncretic cultures have proved to be resilient in the south and in the east bangalore calicut cuttack in the hindi belt and in the north muslims have met a different fate especially in riot prone areas ahmedabad mumbai jaipur aligarh and in the former capitals of muslim states delhi hyderabad bhopal lucknow these developments have resulted in the formation of muslim ghettos and muslim slums in places like ahmedabad and mumbai but self segregation also played a role in the making of muslim enclaves like in delhi and aligarh where traditional elites and the new muslim middle class searched for physical as well as cultural protection through their regrouping this book supplements an ethnographic approach of muslims in 11 indian cities with a quantitative methodology in order to give a first hand account of an untold story in a world where almost all societies are multi religious and multi ethnic we need to study how social cohesion can be achieved in different contexts in some geographical areas as in the middle east and the indian subcontinent people of different religious belonging have through the ages lived side by side sometimes in harmony and sometimes in dissonance in other geographical regions as in scandinavia societies have been quite religiously homogeneous but only recently challenged by immigration in both locations the relations between religious minority and majority are very much on the agenda in order to discuss the situation for non muslims in muslim majority societies a consultation was convened with both muslim and christian participants from pakistan palestine lebanon and sweden some of the participants work in academic settings others in faith based organisations some in jurisprudence and others with theological issues non muslims in muslim majority societies is the result of that consultation the intention of the book is to trigger reflection and further thinking through papers that discuss issues such as freedom of religion minority rights secular and religious legislation and inter religious dialogue in muslim majority societies although the articles are presented as works in progress and remain tentative in many of their conclusions this book is an important contribution to the global debate over religious tolerance and religious pluralism this study provides analyses into the concepts of war and peace as found in the jewish christian and muslim religions it covers topics such as the traditions of the prophets theologies of war theologies of peace and unholy war the bombings in new york and washington in 2001 and subsequent terrorist attacks in different countries of the west have led to fast changing socio cultural and political contexts where islam has been depicted as a global threat the meaning of being a muslim has undergone rapid transformation with the interplay of perceptions and misperceptions impacted by for instance the iranian revolution of 1978 9 the lockertie bombing in 1988 the gulf war of 1990 1 and the clash of civilizations thesis propagated by samuel huntington in 1993 this book examines the way muslims and mainstream societies in the west perceive each other by taking into account themes like cultural pluralism media religious education interfaith dialogue and so on it argues that muslims are not defined solely by their faith but as an emerging group which is self critical reflective and focused on clearing the misconceptions associated with their identity further it posits that westerners who are more knowledgeable about muslims usually express positive opinions about islam thereby arguing that the knowledge about and attitudes towards islam are interrelated islam is slowly becoming part of europe s social cultural and to some degree political landscape this work considers the best way of accommodating islam in europe and establishing cooperative relations between muslims and the followers of other religious or secular value systems looking closely at relations between muslims and their host countries abdulkader h sinno and an international group of scholars examine questions of political representation identity politics civil liberties immigration and security issues while many have problematized muslims in the west this volume takes a unique stance by viewing muslims as a normative and even positive influence in western politics squarely political and transatlantic in scope the essays in this collected work focus on islam and muslim citizens in europe and the americas since 9 11 the european bombings and the recent riots in france main topics include muslim political participation and activism perceptions about islam and politics western attitudes about muslim visibility in the political arena radicalization of muslims in an age of apparent shrinking of civil liberties and personal security in politically uneasy times
